NURSE AIDE TRAINING (NAT) PROGRAM

The NAT program offers students 15-20 hours per week of instruction and lab at Carlos Rosario. Students will perform their practicum at a local nursing facility. NAT instruction will be provided by a registered nurse and will prepare you to become a Certified Nursing Assistant (CNA). The program also provides a comprehensive employability skills curriculum that includes individual career planning, resume and cover letter development, a series of job hunting and interview workshops, and job search assistance.

Course instruction is open for Washington, DC residents. Students are required to purchase personal uniforms, textbooks and tools.
